Brief History and Background

THE GROUP

Sancheti Institute for Orthopaedics and Rehabilitation (SIOR), a NABH-accredited hospital, was established by Dr. Kantilal H Sancheti in 1965 under the Hastimal Sancheti Memorial Trust with the objective of providing the best quality of Orthopaedic care for patients in Pune city. Being the first Orthopaedic surgeon of Pune city, Dr. Sancheti understood the need to establish Orthopaedic and Physiotherapy education to cater to the need for care and restoration of functioning for patients. His determination and service to the community across Maharashtra were recognized by the government of India by bestowing to him the prestigious Padmashree in 1991, Padmabhushan in 2003, and Padmavibhushan in 2012. Dr. Sancheti is an MS and Ph.D. in Orthopaedics and also recipient of the Dr. BC Roy Award in 2016 and D.Litt in 2013.

THE COLLEGE

Sancheti Institute for Orthopaedics and Rehabilitation College of Physiotherapy (SIORCOP), popularly known as Sancheti College of Physiotherapy was established in 1995 as the second private and unaided stand-alone Physiotherapy college in Maharashtra with an intake of 50 for providing world-class Physiotherapy education to affording as well as the underprivileged class of the society. SIOR and SIORCOP are situated in the heart of the Metropolitan Pune city in Shivaji Nagar, 1.5 km from Pune railway station and central bus stand, 0.5 km from Shivajinagar railway station and bus stand, and within a 1 km radius of the central post office, Bank of Maharashtra head office, meteorological department, and AIR office.

SCOP was started as a diploma program in Physiotherapy at Pune University and gradually, with the introduction of a bridge course, was converted to a degree in 1997. In 1998, it was shifted under the newly established state health university, the Maharashtra University of Health Sciences, Nashik, to which it remains affiliated to date. From being a small 12000 sq ft area on the 4th and 5th floor of SIOR, it was shifted to its new 35,000 sq. ft premises in the Sancheti Healthcare Academy (SHA) at the nearby Thube Park in 2011. Today, SIORCOP is an affiliated institute by Maharashtra University of Health Sciences, Nashik and a recognized centre by the Maharashtra State Council for Occupational Therapy and Physiotherapy, Mumbai for an annual intake of 60 seats in BPT, 32 seats in MPT, and 3 seats in Ph.D. Physiotherapy is guided and facilitated by 19 teaching and 10 non-teaching staff.

Vision

The Vision of SIORCOP is “To be a leading institution in the field of Physiotherapy education and research, developing competent and compassionate professionals serving the society at large.”

Mission

Our mission is:

- 1. To nurture young minds by imparting quality education.*
- 2. To promote research and innovation to develop better outcomes towards healthcare delivery.*
- 3. To develop skills and inspire excellence through ethical practices.*
